FISHERMENS TRAINING IN THE SOUTH

This leaflet is being sent to you as you are registered on our database either as a member of the commercial fishing industry or you have applied for information on training in the past. If you no longer require information from us, please use the reply slip overleaf or contact us on 07802 647531

THE LAW - Basic Safety training for Commercial Fishermen

ALL commercial fishermen are required to attend one day courses covering sea survival, firefighting, first aid, health & safety and safety awareness. Your vessels insurance is invalid if all onboard do not have the required certificates.

THE LAW – New Entrant Commercial Fishermen

Merchant Shipping Notice No 1813(F) states that all new entrants to the commercial fishing industry must attend a one-day basic sea survival course, BEFORE going to sea for the first time. If the candidate then remains in the industry, basic health & safety, first aid and firefighting courses must be attended within 3 months. Once basic safety training is complete, the safety awareness & accident prevention course must be attended within the first 2 years of service.

Free Training for New Entrants – Available Now!

Our free three day course is now available, 30 Oct-1 November, aimed at new entrants wishing to join the industry. This includes the sea survival certificate - free of charge, and also includes a range of other subjects giving the new entrant a good all-round knowledge before joining their first vessel.

We also have the Seafish 15 day course starting on 14th January. This is a more comprehensive course and includes all of the basic safety certificated courses required for all commercial fishermen. Please contact us for an application form.

Under 16.5m Skipper Ticket - Funding now available

This certificate is available to all experienced commercial fishermen who have attended the advanced courses in Bridge Watchkeeping, Engineering Watchkeeping, Stability Awareness and GMDSS Short Range Course. Applicants must have at least two years service in the fishing industry and must have completed basic safety training as mentioned above.

Bridge Watchkeeping - Free of charge
Marine Engineering – Free of charge
Stability Awareness – Free of charge

The courses above can also be taken on-line at www.seafishonlinetraining.co.uk

GMDSS Short Range Radio – Free of charge

This course is also required in order to qualify for the Skipper Ticket. For the Unrestricted (Gold) skipper cert, the 5 day bridge/engine courses are required, and for the Restricted (Silver) skipper cert, the 2 day bridge/engine courses are required. Full details are contained in MGN 411 (M+F)
